

Timetable 2024

FAQs for 2024 Year 12 Parents

---

How is the new timetable going to impact my child's SACE / ATAR?

We believe that the new timetable will enhance the overall academic experience and student outcomes, including their SACE results and ATAR score.

The number of subjects that students can study at Year 12 remains unchanged. We are confident that the additional academic in-class time and the supporting aspects of Amplify and Activate will further enhance the academic experience and student outcomes.

What is Amplify?

In Year 12, Amplify is the targeted time assigned for students to study for their subjects with the support of academic mentors. There is no additional content.

This is about supporting personalised learning and amplifying academic performance. Students will have agency to self-manage this time and select teachers who can assist them with their immediate academic goals.

Year 12's will retain one full study line to manage independently including the ability to study off site if they choose. There is no reduction to the minutes that students have to study. Rather, we are adding into this time structures for access to specialists and academic mentors.

Importantly we have increased in-class time for each subject. This will benefit academic outcomes.

What is Activate?

Activate is the subject line that includes key aspects of the current wellbeing program, Chapel, House and assemblies. The program will allow for more structured and purposeful engagement with the Personal and Social Capabilities within the Australian Curriculum.

We are currently reviewing our programs and ensuring these are targeted to the age-appropriate pastoral needs of our students and our Pulteney Values.
